

Leslie K. Mihalov, MD, is an Associate Professor of Pediatrics, The Ohio State University College of Medicine and is currently the Senior Advisor of Emergency Medicine at Nationwide Children's Hospital. Dr. Mihalov's career has focused on medical education and faculty development. She has served as Division and Section Chief of Emergency Medicine, Associate Program Director of the Pediatric Training Program at Nationwide Children's Hospital as well as is a past Medical Staff President. She serves as the Medical Director, Operations for the hospital and leads many safety and quality improvement initiatives. Dr. Mihalov is currently involved in medical education from The Ohio State University College of Medicine Admissions Committee through resident, fellow education and faculty development.

She is passionate about her work in Haiti. Since 2001, Dr. Mihalov has provided patient care at Centre de Sante Communautaire de Dumay, a Haitian-staffed clinic and surgery center supported by Healing Art Missions. She has continued her interest in medical education there with both US and Haitian medical students and residents and is a board member of Healing Art Missions.