

Magdolna Rozs-Johansson

Magdolna, former science diplomat, is a highly accomplished strategist in the life science area with over four years of experience in global scientific affairs. Her unique background includes biotechnology start-up strategies, regulatory guidance, working with key opinion leader (KOL), relationship development, project management, and scientific due diligence. She has a Ph.D. in Molecular and Cell Biology, a Master's degree in Biotechnology, and completed a Fulbright Humphrey Fellowship with the U.S. Department of State. Magdolna is an articulate multi-lingual communicator with extensive presentation and teaching experience. She is currently serving as a DAL of the HBA SF Chapter Membership Committee.