

Candice Lenkowsky Bio

Candice is Head of BMS Field Force Learning & Development where she leads a large team to develop training solutions that drive business impact worldwide. Candice is an award winning sales and learning & development professional with a proven track record of career advancement and success in the pharmaceutical, medical device and consumer goods industries. She is skilled at building, leading and developing teams, strategic thinking, and simplifying complex processes. Candice is also passionate about leading efforts at BMS to achieve gender parity at all levels of the organization.