

Speaker's Bio:

Adrienne Gibson is a speaker, coach and consultant focusing on transformational change. She is an expert when it comes to what's needed to develop courage for change and authenticity through one-to-one coaching, workshops and speaking engagements.

Her expertise and passion has led to engagements world-wide and she has facilitated advanced leadership development programs and team interventions for global senior executives. Her international post-graduate level studies resulted in a thesis focused on developing cultural intelligence and agility in leaders.

Adrienne is a seasoned Human Resources professional who worked across 70+ countries in hospitals, financial services and pharmaceutical industries where she led large scale global change projects, worked across many cultures, and developed global leaders to improve their individual skill set to lead change. Adrienne has deep transformative change experience both personally and professionally to leverage when working with individual and business clients.