

Alison James, Franchise Director, Johnson & Johnson Medical Devices

Alison James is a Franchise Director with Johnson & Johnson Medical Devices, leading the sales & marketing teams across the Cardiovascular & Speciality Solutions Franchise. Alison serves on the Great Britain and Ireland medical device board as the only female commercial lead. She has over 15 years sales & marketing experience with J&J, working in multiple business units, both in the UK and EMEA region. Alison has a breadth of business experience including leading a turnaround business, managing through organisational change, business integration & divestitures. Alison is passionate about people development, building diverse teams and being a role model for all future female leaders.