

Joshua Jacob is currently a Life Sciences Independent Contractor for GLG (Gerson Lehrman Group), leading end-to-end Strategic Projects for top Pharma, Diagnostics and Medical Device companies. Recently, Joshua was Commercial Director at Redx Pharma, a UK biotech focused on discovery and clinical development of novel precision medicines in oncology and fibrosis, whose market cap has notably grown 10-fold to £130m+ in the last year alone. Previously, Joshua held Strategy Consulting and Business Development roles at global advisory firms focused on healthcare; including Prescient Healthcare Group, GLG Life Sciences and Deallus. In these roles, he led projects across the healthcare value chain; from scientific research & innovation, to clinical development, market access, medical affairs and commercialisation. Joshua enjoys mentoring and volunteering opportunities to support the career development of graduates and young professionals who are interested in consulting or the healthcare industry. Joshua holds Postgraduate degrees including an MSci in Human Genetics from UCL and an MSc in Drug Discovery & Pharma Management from the UCL School of Pharmacy, in London.
