

Pam London is a nurse with a career primarily in management. Her work history started in critical care nursing in a cardiac ICU. Pam operated an assisted living facility in Cleveland then joined the Cleveland Clinic to open Creative Commons Canada in Toronto. She started a health care advocacy company in Toronto to assist Canadians in accessing treatment in the US. Pam has worked at Community Health Network as VP of Cardiovascular Services for 5 years.