

Jody's Bio: An IT professional with over 20 years in the pharma industry, Jody became interested in understanding more about the creative mind and fear that comes in when she was responsible for delivering an innovation platform about 8 years ago. In 2014, Jody became a Certified Creative Coach in her personal life where she learned how to mindfully paint. The result was a shift that impacted not only her personal outlook but her professional mindset as well. Since then, she has led numerous corporate and personal retreats and workshops. Igniting creativity opens up the floodgates for infinite possibilities. Read more about Jody including some of her blog posts about innovation and creativity at:<https://www.linkedin.com/in/jodymarch/>