

Lauren McDevitt Bio

Lauren brings over 20 years of leadership experience with healthcare systems, commercial payors, and physician networks in service line, transformational valued based care, and information technology. She is currently providing consultative services as the Principal of Partners in Care. She is a Healthcare Reform strategist who coaches physicians, administrators, and front-line interdisciplinary care teams to be the forerunners in connecting value and cost reduction with innovative, integrated, holistic patient care models. She energizes leaders to think of new revenue sources, competencies, and networks as alternatives to traditional growth strategies. She excels in helping leaders engage team leadership to succeed with at risk programs with the conversion of strategy to executable patient care coordination and new marketing strategies that will drive increased marketshare.
