

Beth L. Rotter, PhD, MPH
Director, Medical Economics Center of Excellence
Centene Corporation

Beth Rotter is the Director, Medical Economics in Enterprise Analytics for Centene Corporation. She leads four teams, and provides vision, strategy and operational leadership for the company's health economics functions, including business development and clinical analytics tied to financial and health outcomes.

Beth received her doctorate and master's degrees in Public Health from Saint Louis University's College for Public Health and Social Justice, and completed an undergraduate degree in Health Administration at Truman State University. She has twelve years of experience in the healthcare industry, with a demonstrated history in public health, maternal and child health epidemiology, healthcare management, and health outcomes research.