

Senior Director of Global Demand Planning

Celgene

Denise has more than 20 years of experience in the life sciences industry. She started her career at Johnson and Johnson working in Supply Chain Optimization, Demand Planning and Strategic Marketing before transitioning to Merck. While at Merck, Denise was responsible for Portfolio Supply Chain initiatives and Customer Centricity Strategies to deliver end-to-end solutions for key customers. In her most recent role, she re-joined J&J as Director of Marketing Solutions responsible for strategy development in Medical Devices.

Denise is an active leader and board member of the Healthcare Businesswomen's Association (HBA). She spear-headed the Fit to Lead affinity group in the NY/NJ region in HBA, and has provided educational programs on how fitness and leadership are connected. Denise followed one of her many passions and is studying at the Institute of Integrative Nutrition to become a certified wellness coach, and will graduate this May.

She also sits on the executive committee of Network to Network Women of NJ.

Denise graduated from the University of Rhode Island with a dual degree in Business and Exercise Physiology. She earned her MBA from St. Peter's University. Denise is an avid triathlete, and coaches first time triathletes.